MUMBAI

India and France on Tuesday elevated their bilateral ties to 'Special Global Strategic Partnership' with Prime Minister Narendra Modi noting that the friendship between the two countries has "no boundaries" and the partnership can "reach from deep oceans to the tallest mountains".

Making joint press statement with French President Emmanuel Macron, PM Modi underscored the depth and significance of the India-France relationship.

'INDIA-FRANCE TIE IS VERY CRUCIAL'

Modi said India-France relationship is very crucial. "The strategic partnership between the two countries is one of the oldest and with the help of President Macron, we have deepened the ties and given it more energy in recent times. Based on this trust and vision, we are elevating our relation to a Special Global Strategic Partnership."

"This partnership is not just strategic. In this era of unpredictable global dynamics, this partnership will provide global stability and progress," he said.

Highlighting cooperation in the defence and aerospace sectors, the PM referred to the inauguration of the helicopter assembly line as a testament to the growing collaboration between the two nations.

FROM RAFALE TO SUBMARINES, INDIA-FRANCE EXPAND DEFENCE TIES

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and French President Emmanuel Macron hailed growing ties between the two countries as they held bilateral talks in Mumbai on Tuesday.

The two countries elevated their ties to a "special global strategic partnership" with Modi and Macron vowing to significantly ramp up bilateral cooperation in areas of defence, trade and technology in the face of increasing geopolitical upheavals. Macron said both the countries are expanding defence cooperation from Rafale jets to submarines.

French Prez Macron: India-France ties are one of trust, openness, and ambition

"I thank you for your warm welcome on my fourth official visit to India. The bilateral relationship between India and France is truly remarkable and unique. This relationship is one of trust, openness, and ambition. We have also decided today to elevate this partnership to a Special Strategic Partnership, granting it a new status. There is no doubt about that, because we have complete faith in this relationship, and we have been doing so for the past eight years. Each year, by working on different things, we have charted many new paths. For example, whether it's the Indo-Pacific region or technology, where there's no hegemony. We firmly believe in the rule of law, and we've demonstrated this over the past few years. Whether it's IMEC, which we jointly launched and or whether we're talking about artificial intelligence or the International Solar Alliance, we've taken several initiatives together over the past eight years."

Tarique Rahman sworn in as Bangladesh PM

DHAKA

Ushering in a new era in Bangladesh politics, dominated for decades by Sheikh Hasina and Khaleda Zia, Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) chief Tarique Rahman on Tuesday took oath as the prime minister of the country.

Rahman's rise to power comes after his party secured a landslide win in the 12 February polls - the first nationwide election since a mass uprising in 2024 led to the ouster of long-time leader Sheikh Hasina and ushered in the Md Yunus-led interim government.

Rahman's BNP secured a commanding two-thirds majority in the 300-seat parliament, winning 209 seats (total 212 with its allies) of the 299 seats in the 13th parliamentary elections, returning to power after nearly two decades. The Islamist party, Jamaat-e-Islami, contesting its first election since a 2013 ban was lifted following Hasina's ouster, won a record 68 seats on its own and 77 seats with its 11 allies. Deposed premier Sheikh Hasina's Awami League was barred from contesting polls after its registration was revoked by the Election Commission.

Rahman becomes the first male to hold the top post in the country of 170 million people in 35 years.

Jamaat and its allies — including the National Citizen Party, led by youth activists who played a prominent role in the movement that toppled Hasina — will form the opposition.

President Mohammed Shahabuddin officiated as Rahman and his cabinet took their oaths in the presence of senior political figures, diplomats, civil and military officials, and representatives from invited countries, including China, India and Pakistan. Lok Sabha speaker Om Birla, who landed in Dhaka earlier on Tuesday, represented India.

Rahman's BNP bagged 209 out of 297 seats, while right-wing Jamaat-e-Islami secured 68 seats in the 13th parliamentary elections. Deposed premier Sheikh Hasina's Awami League was barred from contesting polls.

Breaking with tradition, the swearing-in ceremony was held under the open sky at the South Plaza of the Jatiya Sangsad Bhaban, the national parliament building, instead of the Bangabhaban, the president's official residence where such events are usually organised.

Rahman's elevation caps a long and turbulent political journey. He returned to Bangladesh last year after 17 years of self-imposed exile in London, arriving shortly before his mother's death.

In his first remarks after the election, Rahman urged calm and restraint, saying: "Peace, law and order must be maintained at any cost." He called on supporters to avoid retaliation, warning: "We will not tolerate any kind of chaos."

Modi congratulates Tarique, invites him to visit India

New Delhi: Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla met Tarique Rahman on Tuesday and handed over a warm letter by Prime Minister Narendra Modi inviting Bangladesh's newly-sworn-in prime minister to India. Additionally, Birla also spoke to Rahman over the phone and conveyed PM Modi's congratulations. The letter from PM Modi read, "I extend my warmest congratulations to you on the victory of the Bangladesh Nationalist Party at the just-concluded parliamentary elections in Bangladesh and on your appointment as the next Prime Minister of Bangladesh." PM Modi's letter also extended an invitation to Rahman, his wife Dr Zubaida and his daughter Zaima to visit India at a "mutually convenient time". "A warm welcome awaits you in India," he added in the congratulatory letter.

Kapil, Gavaskar bat for jailed Imran Khan

ISLAMABAD

More than a dozen former international cricket captains, including India's Sunil Gavaskar and Kapil Dev, rallied Tuesday for jailed Pakistan ex-premier Imran Khan, appealing the Islamabad government to give him "adequate" medical treatment. The statement, signed by 14 captains and seen by AFP, demands the proper care of Khan, a former World Cup-winning captain who according to his lawyer has lost most of the vision in his right eye.

Khan has been in jail since 2023 and was sentenced late last year along with his wife to 17 years on corruption charges they both deny. His lawyer visited Khan in jail last week and later submitted a report to Pakistan's chief justice and the SC detailing his concerns and requesting treatment for his client.

SKILL IS THE TOOL

Don't fear AI, prepare for it: Modi reassures India's youth

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday sought to allay concerns over the impact of artificial intelligence (AI) on employment, asserting that the government is proactively investing in large-scale skilling and re-skilling initiatives to prepare Indians for an AI-driven future.

Addressing apprehensions that rapid advances in AI could displace jobs, the PM said fear often stems from a lack of preparedness. He stressed that the government's focus is on equipping the workforce, particularly the youth, with the skills required to adapt to emerging technologies rather than resisting change. According to him, technology-led transitions have historically created new opportunities, provided societies invest early in human capital.

The remarks came against the backdrop of the ongoing AI Summit in New Delhi, where global leaders, industry experts and policymakers have been discussing the opportunities and challenges posed by artificial intelligence. The summit has become a focal point for debates on regulation, innovation and the future of work in the age of AI, bringing together voices from government, business and academia to shape a shared vision for the technology's development.

'INDIA SHOULD BE AMONG 3 AI SUPERPOWERS'

The Prime Minister said India should be among top 3 Artificial Intelligence (AI) superpowers globally as he unveiled his vision for India in 2047. He further said as the first global AI summit is hosted in the Global South, India is creating a platform that amplifies under-represented voices and development priorities. Reflecting his thoughts on fundamental principle to achieve self-reliance, Modi said that India must not just consume technology but create one.

Preparation is the best antidote to fear. That is why we have been investing in skilling and re-skilling our people for an AI-driven future," he said, adding that the government is committed to strengthening every effort by the talented youth to make AI a force multiplier for innovation and inclusion.

K'taka private bus operators blame 'Shakti' for losses

Alleging that the state government's Shakti Yojana has been causing huge losses to private bus owners, the Karnataka Transport Association appealed to CM Siddaramaiah to limit the project to district limits

BENGALURU

The Shakti Yojana is causing a lot of trouble to private bus owners, leading to a situation where many bus owners are not taking their vehicles on the road. The Karnataka Transport Association Federation has appealed to CM Siddaramaiah to restrict the scope of the Shakti Yojana to within the district limits.

The demands of various organizations were discussed in the budget preparatory meetings held at the Vidhana Soudha on Monday. During this, the Karnataka Transport Associations Federation said that the Shakti Yojana is not only affecting the situation of the owners, but also the drivers, conductors and other dependent families who depend on the buses. Since this is also causing loss to the government exchequer, it has requested that the scope of the Shakti Yojana be restricted to the district limits to facilitate the same.

It has also appealed that if the Race Course site is developed as a Pay and Use bus stop, the traffic congestion at Majestic and Anand Rao Circle will be reduced and the government will receive additional revenue.

During a meeting with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, the alliance. It has appealed to amend the aggregator rules and impose a clear and complete ban on bike taxis in the state. It has been stated that the order to formulate rules to allow two-wheelers to operate as bike taxis without formulating a separate government policy, license and safety standards is causing serious harm to the legal auto and taxi sector.

Although aggregator companies are required to pay 1.5 percent royalty to the government as per the prevailing rules, the state government has suffered a huge loss of revenue due to its non-recovery. This amount is equivalent to crores of rupees and it is requested to immediately implement strict implementation measures and protect the legitimate income of the government. Minister G Parameshwar said that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah gives what is due to our community.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah held a meeting with the Scheduled Caste MLAs of the ruling party at the Vidhana Soudha and discussed the budget for 2026-27. Scheduled Caste Ministers and MLAs, Chief Secretary to the Government Shalini Rajneesh, and officials of the Finance Department were present.

BENGALURU

Buying fruits is steadily becoming more expensive for residents, with most varieties in city markets witnessing a price rise of at least 20 percent over the past six weeks

Traders attribute the spike to seasonal fluctuations and inconsistent arrivals. The city sources much of its fruit supply from Maharashtra, Haveri, Devanahalli and other parts of Karnataka. As arrivals tighten, prices have climbed across the board. Bananas, which were priced at Rs 40, are now selling for around Rs 70 per kg. Pomegranates, which earlier retailed at Rs 100–120 per kg, have surged to Rs 160–200 per kg.

Grapes, too, have seen a sharp jump. The price of green varieties went up from Rs 100 per kg to Rs 160. Apples, priced Rs 120 earlier, are now selling for around Rs 180 per kg. Guavas, once available for Rs 100–120 per kg, are currently priced at nearly Rs 140. Black grapes cost Rs 240–280 per kg. Among relatively affordable options, watermelon and muskmelon are selling at about Rs 50 per piece, while sapota ranges between Rs 100 and Rs 140 per kg. Traders at KR Market told that the recent spike is partly due to stock accumulation by a handful of wholesalers ahead of the festive season, which has temporarily tightened supply.

For consumers, however, the explanations offer little comfort. P Anupama, a homemaker from South End Circle, said the increase is evident everywhere including on online platforms. I came to KR Market thinking prices would be lower than in other parts of the city. But even here, apples are selling at Rs 200 per kg, which is very high. Still, since fruits are healthy, I don't want my children to miss out on them in their daily diet, she said.

Experts suggest that the prices will continue to be high till the end of the month.

R Selvarajan, Director of ICAR–National Research Centre for Banana, said, farmers are increasingly looking at the Mumbai market, as it is more attractive now. Bananas are widely consumed, including by diabetics. Compared to many other states, Karnataka currently has lower supply, while demand went up as more people are seeking bananas. Supplies are likely to improve in April and May with the arrival of the new harvest.

HC orders inspection of PGAWA to check norm adherence

BENGALURU

The High Court has ordered an inspection of the premises of members of the Paying Guest Accommodation Welfare Association (PGAWA), Bengaluru, to assess whether they have conformed to the guidelines issued by the civic authorities.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj observed in his order that the authorities have to examine whether the constructions put up by the petitioners and members of the petitioner association are in accordance with the sanctioned plan. If no plan sanction was granted, they have to examine whether it is in accordance with the applicable building bylaws in all respects and whether the use of the premises is permitted under the relevant zonal regulations.

The inspection has to be carried out from 10.30 am on February 18 and completed within two weeks thereafter.

The Court said the petitioners could participate in the inspection if they chose to do so, or depute their respective representatives. In the event of the petitioners not participating in the inspection and/or not cooperating with the inspection, they would not be entitled to any equitable consideration, the judge added, while directing the matter to be listed for further consideration on March 16.

The petitioner association has challenged various notices issued by BBMP, the then civic authority, to its members in 2024-25.

BBMP had mandated that each facility must have all entries, exits, and corridors under CCTV surveillance, with software and hardware to ensure the storage of 90 days of footage from each camera. It said it must be ensured that, as per occupancy-related building norms, every occupant has not less than 70sqft of space per head, and that the licence must be issued for a particular number of occupants. It also mandated that facilities must have clean and hygienic washroom facilities for the occupants, and a source of potable drinking water. It said if the facility has its own mass kitchen, then it must obtain an FSSAI licence within three months of service of the trade licence from BBMP.

Blackspots down by a quarter across Bengaluru in 6 months

BENGALURU

There was a 28% reduction in garbage blackspots across the city in the past six months, with the number dropping from 1,144 in September 2025 to 823 in February 2026, according to data from Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML).

Officials said the decline reflects sustained solid waste management interventions across multiple city corporations, though the pace and nature of action have varied across regions.

While west and south Bengaluru showed sharper corrections in clearing chronic dumping points through enforcement and coordinated clean-up drives, the central and northern zones intensified monitoring and infrastructure-led responses to tackle persistent garbage hotspots.

In Bengaluru West city corporation's jurisdiction, blackspots declined sharply from 281 to 190. Localities such as Rajajinagar, Vijayanagar, and Basavanagudi saw sustained clearance of chronic dumping points, aided by tighter surveillance, improved door-to-door waste collection, and stronger ward-level enforcement to prevent fresh accumulation, officials said. Bengaluru South city corporation also recorded notable progress, bringing the blackspot count down from 173 to 119.

Jayanagar, Padmanabhanagar, and BTM Layout reported visible improvement following focused clean-up drives, closer supervision by ward officials, and continuous monitoring mechanisms aimed at curbing re-dumping. In contrast, Bengaluru East city corporation registered only a marginal drop in numbers, from 167 to 146, the lowest improvement across the city's civic jurisdictions. Rapidly expanding areas like KR Pura and Mahadevapura continued to account for a significant number of illegal dumping sites, underscoring the pressures of fast-paced urbanisation, construction debris generation, and inconsistent waste segregation practices.

In Bengaluru Central city corporation, the focus was on institutionalising monitoring mechanisms aligned with the Swachh Survekshan standards, officials said. Civic authorities trained field teams on evaluation criteria and compliance benchmarks, while appointing a Deputy General Manager and a dedicated nodal officer to track garbage blackspot removal and toilet maintenance.

At the TMC, the delegation observed intelligent transportation systems, live traffic monitoring and digital mobility solutions. PROPERTY AUCTION FOR TAX DUES

'Will recover property tax dues via auction of defaulted properties'

BENGALURU

In cases where property owners within the KR Puram Zone jurisdiction of the Bengaluru East City Corporation have failed to pay property tax for more than one year, stringent action will be initiated to recover the pending dues through auction of such properties, said Dr Sudha, Joint Commissioner of KR Puram Zone.

Under the provisions of the Greater Bengaluru Governance Act 2025, it is mandatory for all property owners or occupiers within the city corporation limits to pay property tax annually. In cases where property tax remains unpaid for more than one year, recovery procedures are undertaken as per the Property Tax Assessment, Collection and Administration Rules 2024.

As per the Act and Rules, show-cause notices and demand notices were issued to property tax defaulters, granting sufficient time for payment.

Despite repeated reminders, including periodic mobile message notifications, certain property owners have continued to default on payment, the Joint Commissioner stated.

After providing ample opportunities, it has been decided to initiate distress sale (auction) proceedings against 33 defaulted properties within the KR Puram Zone in accordance with the law and rules.

As part of the next step, the auction process will be conducted on February 21 at 11.00 AM in front of the Joint Commissioner's Office, KR Puram Zone-2.The public are hereby invited to participate in the auction process.

However, if the defaulting property owners clear the entire pending property tax dues before the commencement of the auction process, the concerned property will be withdrawn from the auction. Property owners may also submit any representations or grievances to the Joint Commissioner's Office prior to the auction.

Big relief for homeowners: 'No parking fee for vehicles parked outside houses'

Residents who park their vehicles in front of their homes will be exempted from the new parking fee introduced

BENGALURU

In a major relief for homeowners in Bengaluru, the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) has clarified that there is no proposal to impose parking charges on vehicles parked outside residential houses.

GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao made this announcement, putting an end to widespread speculation and public concern. For a long time, discussions had been ongoing about levying parking fees for vehicles parked on roads in front of houses. Recently, reports suggested that such a system could be introduced soon, triggering anxiety among residents.

However, Maheshwar Rao has now firmly stated that no such plan exists at present. He clarified that the authority has not proposed any parking charges for vehicles parked outside homes on residential streets, providing immediate relief to lakhs of city residents.

At the same time, the commissioner confirmed that paid parking will be introduced on selected main roads under city municipal limits. As part of this initiative, GBA has identified major roads in five city corporations where regulated pay-and-park systems will be implemented.

The process is currently at the tender stage, and contractors will soon be finalised for collecting parking fees on these designated stretches. Once the tender process is completed, paid parking operations will begin on the identified main roads to improve traffic flow, manage congestion, and regulate roadside parking.

Officials clarified that this system will strictly apply only to selected commercial and high-traffic roads and will not affect residential neighbourhoods.

2026-27 budget: Auto, taxi drivers place key demands before govt

The auto drivers have strongly demanded a complete ban on illegal bike taxi operations, stating that such services severely impact their livelihood

BENGALURU

Ahead of the presentation of the 2026-27 State Budget, auto and taxi drivers' associations have submitted a detailed memorandum to the government, urging immediate action on a wide range of welfare and regulatory measures.

They have urged the government to bring in a special ordinance to strictly enforce the ban and protect authorised auto and taxi drivers.

One of the major demands is the establishment of an Unorganised Drivers' Development Corporation for auto, taxi, private bus, lorry, maxi cab, and goods vehicle drivers. The association said such a corporation would ensure structured welfare schemes and financial support for thousands of drivers across the state.

To support unemployed individuals who depend on rental autos for income, the drivers have sought special loan schemes to help them purchase their own vehicles. They have also demanded that caste-based development corporations provide direct loans of up to 95 per cent under hypothecation for buying new auto-rickshaws.

With the growing push for green mobility, drivers have urged the government to announce a 50 per cent subsidy on new electric auto-rickshaws, which currently cost around Rs 3.85 lakh, making them affordable for drivers.

Housing security is another key concern. The associations have asked the government to reserve a fixed percentage of houses under the Chief Minister's Housing Scheme specifically for drivers and their families.

In the interest of safety and social security, the memorandum demands Rs 5 lakh as accident compensation to the family if a driver dies or is severely injured while on duty.

Call for Drivers' Day

The drivers have also appealed for official recognition of their profession by declaring a Drivers' Day. Additionally, they want the government to select at least 150 honest and senior drivers in Bengaluru every year and honour them with awards and a Rs 25,000 cash prize.

P Ramaiah seen as a role model at a time when public life is becoming polluted: KV Prabhakar

BENGALURU

P Ramaiah is seen as a role model at a time when public life is becoming polluted. He worked hard to enhance the dignity of journalism and politics, praised Chief Minister's Media Advisor KV Prabhakar.

He was speaking at the tribute to senior journalist late P. Ramaiah and the "I am Hindu Ramaiah" book launch programme held at Gandhi Bhavan.

Journalists who always meditate on the ups and downs of society, the good and the bad, are at high risk of becoming insensitive and losing their sensibilities.

Only when we consciously try to overcome this will our professional dignity increase.

He said that the biggest challenge before us is to become professional, to practice journalism and to remain a journalist without diminishing the dignity of others despite all our personal struggles and pressures.

The late veteran P. Ramaiah was a role model for all of us in this regard. Becoming a journalist is like a model initiation. Once you identify as a journalist, some hard-working qualities come easily. It is okay to be a politician or a businessman later. Once a journalist becomes a journalist, he cannot become a former one or retire. He opined that there is no death for journalists who have the attitude of accepting change with an open mind.

Police Role Crucial in Child Protection Efforts

Child-friendly policing requires empathy, coordination, and strict action against child marriage violations

CHITRADURGA

Police stations cannot become child-friendly merely through colorful paint or banners, said Dr. K.T. Tippeswamy, Member of the Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights, emphasizing that genuine sensitivity towards distressed children is essential to reform the system. He was speaking after inaugurating a one-day training programme for SJPU unit officers and staff at the District Panchayat hall in Chitradurga.

The training programme was organized jointly by the Directorate of Child Protection, District Administration, Zilla Panchayat, Police Department, Women and Child Development Department, and the District Child Protection Unit. Sessions focused on the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, POCSO Act, Juvenile Justice Act, and Mission Vatsalya scheme.

Dr. Tippeswamy noted that while uniforms and authority symbolize power in the police department, handling child-related cases requires compassion and humanity above all. The attitude and behavior of officers toward children visiting police stations play a decisive role in delivering justice. He compared child protection to nurturing a sapling with water, manure, and fencing, stressing that coordinated efforts among the Education Department, Women and Child Development Department, and Police are vital to safeguard children's rights.

Quoting Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, he remarked that the success of the Constitution depends on those implementing it. Effective enforcement of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 requires officials to act with empathy rather than mechanical duty. Recalling an incident under the Open House initiative where a child courageously approached authorities to stop her child marriage, he urged police to strengthen their commitment to ensuring justice for every child.

Deputy Director of Women and Child Development K.H. Vijay Kumar revealed that over 3,800 cases of minor pregnancies have been reported in the district in the last five years. However, only 1 to 2 percent resulted in FIRs, and merely 10 percent came to the department's notice, raising serious concern.

To combat child marriage, the department has surveyed nearly 54,000 girls below 18 years across the district, obtaining written undertakings from parents pledging not to marry their daughters before 18. Awareness drives are being conducted through schools, anganwadi centers, and ASHA workers. Strict legal action has been warned against parents and those assisting illegal marriages.

MLAs Travelling Abroad Is Personal Choice: Hussain

RAMANAGARA

Legislators travelling abroad are doing so out of their own free will and personal choice, clarified Iqbal Hussain while addressing reporters in the city. He stated that there is no compulsion from the party or the government regarding such visits.

Speaking to the media, Iqbal Hussain said that public representatives often travel abroad to study development models, governance systems, infrastructure projects, and innovative administrative practices. Such visits, he noted, help lawmakers gain exposure to global best practices that can later be adapted for the benefit of their constituencies.

He emphasized that every MLA has the right to decide whether to participate in study tours or overseas visits. It is entirely their personal decision. No one is being forced to go, he clarified, responding to recent discussions surrounding legislators' foreign travel.

The MLA further pointed out that study tours are not a new practice and have been part of governance for many years.

According to him, understanding international models in sectors such as urban planning, water management, public transportation, and digital governance can contribute to more effective policy implementation back home.

Iqbal Hussain also underlined that elected representatives remain accountable to the people of their constituencies. He said that any official travel undertaken by MLAs follows established procedures and guidelines. Transparency and adherence to rules are maintained in such matters, he added.

Addressing criticism, he remarked that development-oriented exposure visits should not be misinterpreted. Instead, the focus should remain on how the knowledge gained from such tours can be utilized to improve public services and infrastructure.

Reiterating his stand, the MLA concluded that travel decisions rest with individual legislators and are not dictated by external pressure, stressing that responsible governance and constituency development remain the primary priorities of all elected representatives.

Turning Chakrabavi VSSN polls into prestige battle is unjust, says A. Manjunath

'VSSN Election Should Not Become Prestige Issue'

RAMANAGARA

The election of the Chakrabavi VSSN Cooperative Society should not be turned into a matter of prestige, said A. Manjunath, questioning the motives behind attempts to politicize the local body polls.

Addressing media persons, Manjunath expressed concern that certain individuals and groups are treating the Chakrabavi VSSN (Village Service Cooperative Society) election as a prestige contest rather than a democratic process meant to strengthen grassroots institutions. He stated that cooperative societies are formed to serve farmers and members, not to become platforms for political rivalry.

He emphasized that VSSN societies play a crucial role in providing agricultural loans, fertilizers, seeds, and other essential services to rural communities. Turning such institutions into arenas for ego clashes and political one-upmanship, he said, defeats their very purpose. These elections should focus on service and development, not on settling scores or showcasing influence, he remarked.

Manjunath further pointed out that cooperative bodies function best when members work together in unity. Internal conflicts and prestige-based politics could hamper the smooth functioning of the society and adversely affect farmers who depend on timely financial and material assistance.

He urged all contesting candidates and their supporters to maintain decorum and ensure a peaceful, transparent election process. According to him, healthy competition is welcome in democracy, but unnecessary tensions and attempts to dominate the institution for prestige undermine public trust.

The leader also appealed to voters to elect candidates who are committed to strengthening the cooperative movement and addressing the needs of farmers, rather than those driven by personal ambitions. He stressed that development of the village and welfare of members should remain the top priority.

Concluding his statement, Manjunath called for unity and cooperation among all stakeholders, stating that the Chakrabavi VSSN election should serve as an example of democratic values rather than a battleground for prestige politics.

Opposition questions MLA's self-funded foreign trip

CHIKKABALLAPUR

A debate has erupted in political circles after opposition parties raised objections to a legislator travelling abroad at his own expense. Supporters of the MLA have strongly defended the visit, stating that since the trip is being funded personally and not through public money, there is no valid reason for criticism.

According to sources, the MLA has travelled overseas for personal reasons, and officials clarified that no government funds were utilized for the visit. However, opposition leaders have attempted to question the timing and intent of the foreign trip, alleging that public representatives must remain available to address local issues. Reacting sharply to the allegations, ruling party leaders stated that it is unfair to politicize a personal matter. They argued that as long as no public resources are involved and official responsibilities are being managed appropriately, such criticism is unwarranted. Finding fault in a private visit undertaken at personal expense reflects the opposition's tendency to create controversy without substance, a senior leader remarked. Supporters further emphasized that elected representatives, like any other citizen, are entitled to personal travel, provided it does not hinder their constitutional duties.

Bonded Labour Eradication Awareness Drive Launched

Citizens urged to report bonded labour cases to helpline 1552 immediately

CHIKKABALLAPUR

Chief Executive Officer of Zilla Panchayat, Dr. Y. Naveen Bhatt, appealed to the public to uphold social responsibility by reporting any instances of bonded labour in the district by calling the helpline number 1552. He was speaking after inaugurating the Bonded Labour System Abolition Day and Awareness Programme held at the District Panchayat auditorium on Tuesday.

Addressing the gathering, Dr. Bhatt highlighted that nearly 85 percent of families today use smartphones, making it increasingly difficult for forced or bonded labour practices to remain hidden. Whether in rural villages or urban localities, such exploitation cannot go unnoticed by neighbours and local residents. He urged citizens to come forward with information, assuring that competent authorities would initiate bonded labour release and rehabilitation measures while taking strict legal action against those responsible for forcing or facilitating such practices.

Providing historical context, he noted that bonded labour originated during the pre-Independence era, particularly in the 1800s, under the Zamindari and jajmani systems. Social inequality and poverty often compelled vulnerable families to take loans, trapping them and even their future generations in forced labour. The enactment of the Bonded Labour System (Abolition) Act in 1975 marked a significant and permanent step toward eradicating the practice. In Chikkaballapur district alone, 2,352 labourers have been identified, freed, and rehabilitated so far.

Dr. Bhatt also mentioned that organisations working towards bonded labour eradication have sought improvements in the existing Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). A meeting under the chairmanship of the Deputy Commissioner will be convened, and resolutions passed will be forwarded to the state level for consideration.

Authorities are collecting data from brick kilns, poultry farms, and construction sites to ensure that no worker is trapped in bonded labour. Awareness initiatives will continue to prevent future exploitation.

Senior Civil Judge and Member Secretary of the District Legal Services Authority, B. Shilpa, expressed concern that bonded labour persists in modern forms, including forced domestic work and child care in urban areas. District Bar Association President K.V. Abhilash also observed that bonded labour has evolved into new dimensions, even appearing in corporate sectors, and stressed the need for proactive administrative action.

YUVANIDHI SKILL DRIVE

Yuvanidhi Beneficiaries Urged To Gain Skills in Chitradurga

CHITRADURGA

District Guarantee Schemes Implementation Authority President Shivanna R. Ganjigatte called upon beneficiaries of the Yuvanidhi scheme to utilise skill training opportunities and become self-reliant rather than depending solely on unemployment allowance.

He was speaking after inaugurating a skill training and awareness programme organised on Tuesday at the Government Science College auditorium by the district administration, Zilla Panchayat, District Guarantee Schemes Implementation Authority and the Department of Skill Development, Entrepreneurship and Livelihood.

Shivanna Ganjigatte said that the Yuvanidhi Scheme, one of the five guarantee schemes of the State Government, plays a significant role in providing financial and psychological support to graduates and diploma holders awaiting employment. Graduates receive Rs.3,000 per month and diploma holders Rs.1,500 per month under the scheme until they secure jobs.

However, he emphasised that the government's objective is not merely to provide financial assistance but to ensure that youth enhance their skills and secure meaningful employment. Various banks and training institutions are collaborating to offer skill development programmes to beneficiaries, enabling them to improve their employability.

District Skill Development Officer Sannakki Maruti said the government aims to provide free training through institutions such as GTTC and ITIs and ensure at least 70 percent placement for trained candidates. Skilled youth, he noted, contribute significantly to the nation's economy, and beneficiaries should take full advantage of the opportunity to build dignified, self-reliant lives.

RUDSET institution lecturer Thotappa highlighted the importance of practical technical skills in addition to academic qualifications. He said training programmes ranging from two months to one year are available in mechanical, automation and electronics fields, including modern automation technologies in the manufacturing sector. Free training is offered particularly to SC, ST and minority candidates, and successful trainees are assisted with job placements in reputed companies.

Officials including Employment Officer Ravindra, GTTC Principal Suhas, Assistant Statistical Officer Vemanna, Government Science College Principal Ravikant and Canara Bank financial literacy attended the programme.

Delhi CM announces Rs 800 cr road makeover plan

Entire roads will be strengthened edge-to-edge, improving durability, reducing dust, waterlogging, and frequent repairs effectively

NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta has unveiled a major Rs 802.18 crore project to upgrade 241 roads, spanning nearly 400 km. The initiative will use a "wall-to-wall carpeting" method to make roads pothole-free, even, and long-lasting, aiming for safer and cleaner streets across the capital.

The project will cover 45 Assembly constituencies, including major roads like Outer Ring Road, August Kranti Marg, Rao Tula Ram Marg, Kapashera-Bijwasan Road, Lala Lajpat Rai Marg, Shamnath Marg, D.B.

Gupta Road, and several others. The Centre will fund Rs 643.36 crore through the Central Road Infrastructure Fund, while the Delhi government will contribute Rs 158.82 crore.

Under the new model, entire road stretches will be uniformly strengthened from edge to edge, unlike past repairs that focused only on central portions or isolated potholes.

This approach will improve durability, reduce frequent repairs, and minimise dust and particulate matter pollution. Officials highlighted that damaged roads generate airborne fine particles, worsening air quality, and that the resurfacing will also improve drainage and reduce waterlogging during monsoons.

Last year, around 150 km of roads were upgraded using the same technology, demonstrating its effectiveness. The Public Works Department will execute the work in phases to limit traffic disruption. Each road will undergo a detailed technical assessment, base strengthening, proper drainage installation, and final resurfacing according to prescribed standards.

The Chief Minister emphasised that the goal is long-term improvement rather than temporary fixes.

She said that close coordination between the Delhi government and the Centre is driving this transformation, promising smoother, safer, and pollution-reduced roads for citizens by the end of the year.

Tensions rise as motion targets Rahul Gandhi

NEW DELHI

The first half of the Budget session turned tense as a motion against Opposition Leader Rahul Gandhi dominated proceedings. During the discussion on the motion of thanks to the President's address, Gandhi was stopped from quoting unpublished memoirs of a former Army chief, with the Speaker and ruling party members citing parliamentary rules.

The situation escalated when BJP MP Nishikant Dubey moved a substantive motion against Gandhi, accusing him of collaborating with "anti-national forces" and seeking cancellation of his Lok Sabha membership and election disqualification. Substantive motions are usually used in cases of serious criminal misconduct, such as the 2005 "cash for votes" scandal. Opposition leaders defended Gandhi, stating his criticism of the interim India-US trade deal was a legitimate parliamentary exercise.

Dubey alleged Gandhi's statements aimed to "destabilise" the nation, while opposition parties described it as conflating dissent with anti-national activity. Analysts noted that labeling disagreement as anti-national risks narrowing democratic debate inside and outside Parliament. This is not Gandhi's first brush with disqualification. In March 2023, he was disqualified after a defamation conviction but was reinstated in August 2023 when the Supreme Court stayed his sentence. With tensions high, the incident has renewed discussions on the Leader of the Opposition's role and the importance of protecting dissent in a parliamentary democracy. Political observers say such episodes highlight the fine line between accountability and suppressing debate in India's legislative framework.

PORBANDAR

In a major maritime operation, the Indian Coast Guard and Gujarat Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) seized over 200 kg of drugs near Porbandar. Two Pakistani nationals were detained during the crackdown, carried out close to the international maritime boundary.

Officials said the operation was based on actionable intelligence about drug smuggling in the region.

The recovered consignment, worth several crores, is under detailed examination. Authorities cautioned that the final quantity and estimated value may rise as investigations continue.

The two detained men are being interrogated to uncover the origin and intended destination of the drugs. Investigators are also probing possible links to larger international trafficking networks. The Coast Guard and ATS are coordinating closely to track the supply chain and prevent future smuggling attempts.

This operation highlights India's efforts to strengthen maritime security and curb cross-border drug trafficking.

Macron highlights India-France ties, multipolar world vision

Macron Pays Tribute to 26/11 Victims, Strengthening Strategic Partnership Between India and France

MUMBAI

French President Emmanuel Macron on Tuesday described the India-France relationship as unique, built on deep mutual trust. Beginning his Mumbai visit with a jog at Marine Drive, Macron paid tribute to the 2008 terror attack victims. He later met Prime Minister Narendra Modi to plan the Horizon 2047 roadmap for the next decade.

Macron highlighted cooperation in defence, industry, and technology, noting India's approval of 114 Rafale jets, mostly "Made in India," and celebrating the launch of the Airbus H125 helicopter assembly line.

He stressed that India and France are moving beyond trade to share ideas in Green Tech, Space, and AI. Launching the India-France Year of Innovation, Macron announced programs for youth exchanges, startups, and academic collaborations.

The President reaffirmed support for India's "Aatmanirbhar Bharat" initiative and permanent UN Security Council seat, describing India as a key Indo-Pacific partner. Macron also called for a free maritime corridor and ethical AI development for the Global South. He concluded that India and France aim to become global leaders in technology, defence, and strategic cooperation.

French President Emmanuel Macron on Tuesday paid tribute to the 2008 Mumbai terror attack victims, highlighting India-France solidarity against terrorism. Accompanied by First Lady Brigitte Macron, he was warmly received by Maharashtra officials and welcomed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who emphasized strengthening bilateral cooperation. During his fourth visit to India, Macron will attend the AI Impact Summit and hold a bilateral meeting with Modi to review the Strategic Partnership and explore collaboration in emerging sectors. A key highlight is the joint launch of the India-France Year of Innovation 2026, promoting technology, research, start-ups, and innovation exchanges between the two nations.

World facing messy global transition: Jaishankar

MUMBAI

External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar on Tuesday described the global landscape as entering a "messy" and unpredictable transition.

Speaking at the inaugural session of the three-day Global Economic Cooperation (GEC) Summit in Mumbai, he said the established global order is changing rapidly.

"Replacements are hard to create, and we appear to be headed for a long twilight zone. This will be risky, unpredictable, perhaps even dangerous," he warned.

Jaishankar noted that elements of the old order will coexist with emerging systems. He added that in decision-making, economics will increasingly give way to politics and security, and technology—especially AI—will be transformative.

EAM S. Jaishankar warns of unpredictable global changes at Mumbai GEC Summit, urging India to strengthen domestic foundations while engaging strategically with international partners.

Highlighting India's strategy, he stressed that the country is focusing on strengthening internal capabilities while expanding its global influence.

"India's response is to build national capabilities, address growth challenges comprehensively, and deal with both short-term issues and long-term prospects. The Reform Express will continue to roll on," he asserted.

The minister pointed to India's robust domestic stability as a foundation for deeper international engagement, including trade deals and leadership in production, services, technology, and talent.

He emphasized that under PM Narendra Modi, practical and people-centric policies have made India a trusted global partner.

Jaishankar participated in the summit alongside Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, underscoring India's proactive approach to navigating an uncertain world while strengthening both domestic governance and global diplomacy.

Green hydrogen prices in India fall to ₹279 per kg, marking a historic milestone in clean energy

India achieves historic low green hydrogen prices

NEW DELHI

India has set a global benchmark as green hydrogen prices drop to a historic low of ₹279 per kilogram, announced Union Minister of New and Renewable Energy, Pralhad Joshi, during "Climate Week 2026" in Mumbai. Under the National Green Hydrogen Mission, this achievement reflects the country's growing role in the global clean energy transition.

At the summit, Joshi also highlighted India's solar power progress.

Through the SuryaGhar scheme, 3 million households now receive free solar electricity via rooftop installations. He described PM SuryaGhar and PM KUSUM as twin engines driving India's solar revolution, enabling farmers and citizens to actively participate in climate sustainability.

This year, India hosted its first global Climate Week and Summit, showcasing leadership in the Global South. Joshi praised Maharashtra and Karnataka for driving economic growth and renewable energy adoption, emphasizing Mumbai's role as a key center of innovation and climate action.

He noted that India's industrial and household electricity rates in Maharashtra have dropped, reflecting the success of large-scale solar initiatives. Joshi credited Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision for India's clean energy achievements, describing them as decisive steps toward global climate sustainability.

The summit was attended by Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, along with senior officials and ministers, demonstrating India's growing commitment to green energy, innovation, and sustainable development, while inspiring other nations to follow suit.

BHUBANESWAR

The Opposition Biju Janata Dal (BJD) and Indian National Congress (INC) on Tuesday slammed Governor Hari Babu Kambhampati's address at the Odisha Assembly and staged a walkout in protest. The Governor delivered his speech on the first day of the Budget Session, highlighting welfare and development initiatives in agriculture, industry, education, healthcare, tourism, and IT sectors, aiming for a "Viksit Odisha" by 2036.

BJD president and Leader of Opposition Naveen Patnaik criticised the address as "strong in words but weak in action," saying it failed to reflect the ground realities. Patnaik also raised concerns over rising mob lynching incidents and said Odisha's law-and-order situation under the BJP-led government is in a dreadful state, alleging that such violence is unparalleled elsewhere in India. Congress Legislature Party leader Rama Chandra Kadam accused the state government of ignoring Odisha's development and failing to protect the state's interests. He said the Governor's speech did not align with the government's statements or actions. The ruling BJP countered, claiming the opposition is confused and unable to accept the state's rapid progress under its administration.

The two-day discussion on the Governor's address will follow the speech, with the State Budget scheduled for February 20, to be presented by Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi, who also holds the Finance portfolio.

Mamata confirms 7 suspended AEROs will retain jobs

KOLKATA

The seven Assistant Electoral Registration Officers (AEROs) suspended by the Election Commission of India (ECI) in West Bengal will not lose their jobs, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said on Tuesday. They will be assigned alternative duties by the state government but will not handle any election-related work, she added, expressing confidence in their performance in new roles.

Banerjee criticised the ECI for acting unilaterally, saying the officers were not given a chance to present their side. "The Commission is constantly threatening electoral officers and interfering with the jurisdiction of the state government. I request the Commission to operate more democratically," she said.

However, officials from the office of the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), West Bengal, stated that the suspensions were based on genuine violations of ECI guidelines during the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) exercise. Observers had cautioned the seven AEROs, but they allegedly continued operating outside the prescribed procedures, prompting their suspension.

The Chief Minister also accused the ECI of deleting names of genuine voters using Artificial Intelligence (AI), indirectly pointing to ECI's Director General of IT, Seema Khanna. She said the Commission is not following Supreme Court directives and treating West Bengal differently by not accepting identity documents considered valid in other states.

The issue highlights ongoing tensions between the state government and the ECI amid preparations for voter list revisions. Banerjee reiterated that while the suspended AEROs will be reassigned, the state will continue to monitor electoral processes closely, ensuring compliance with democratic norms while protecting the rights of voters and officials involved in the revision exercise.

Kerala High Court quashes Nava Kerala survey

KOCHI

The Kerala High Court on Tuesday stayed the Nava Kerala Survey, making strong observations against the CPI(M) and the state government.

The Division Bench criticised State Secretary M.V. Govindan, suggesting the party may have had prior knowledge of the survey and questioning how it learned about the government decision in advance.

The court noted that before the survey was officially approved, Govindan had sent a letter to party cadres asking them to register on the survey portal. His response to this allegation was described as evasive, strengthening the petitioners' claims.

The High Court also quashed the survey over violations of the Rules of Business in sanctioning Rs 20 crore for a "special PR campaign," calling the fund allocation a breach of procedure. The manner in which the survey was conducted also raised doubts.

The survey, announced by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan to gather public feedback on development and welfare initiatives, was scheduled to run until February 22. Petitioners, including KSU State President Aloysius Xavier and Congress Ernakulam District Panchayat member Mubas Onakkali, argued that public funds were being misused to collect voter data for CPI(M) ahead of elections.

The court emphasised that prior approval from the Finance Department was mandatory for such government-funded surveys, which had not been obtained.

Govindan was made a respondent in the case, and the Bench described the affidavit submitted by him as unsatisfactory, terming the matter a deviation from financial norms.

The decision is seen as a significant setback for the state government with Assembly elections approaching.

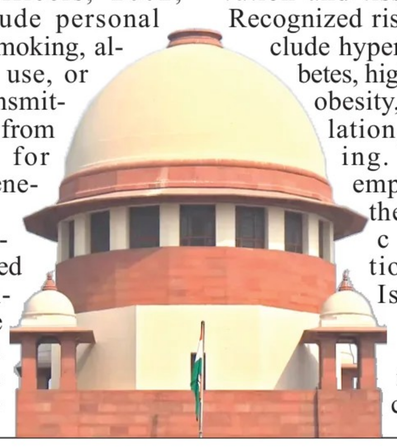
ARMY PENSION

SC denies Army pension for smoking

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court of India has ruled that smoking-related illnesses are not valid grounds for disability compensation in the Army.

The decision came after a former Army personnel filed a claim, linking his ischemic stroke to military service. A bench of Justices Aravind Kumar and Prasanna B. Varale upheld the Armed Forces Tribunal's order, noting that the appellant smoked around ten bidis daily. The Court referred to Regulation 173 of the Pension Regulations for the Army, 1961, and the Guide to Medical Officers, 2002, which exclude personal habits like smoking, alcohol, drug use, or sexually transmitted diseases from qualifying for disability benefits.



The judgment explained that an ischemic stroke occurs when a blood clot or plaque blocks blood flow to the brain, causing oxygen deprivation and tissue damage. Recognized risk factors include hypertension, diabetes, high cholesterol, obesity, atrial fibrillation, and smoking. The Court emphasized that the appellant's condition—"Stroke Ischemic RT MCA Territory"—was neither caused nor worsened by military service.

The bench also clarified that a previous ruling in Bijender Singh v. Union of India & Ors. (2025) was not relevant. In that case, extreme conditions like high-altitude deployment at Siachen Glacier were considered, whereas the current case had no such exceptional circumstances.

The Court's ruling reinforces that disability pensions in the Army are limited to conditions arising from service or aggravated by it, and personal habits remain the individual's responsibility.

Jharkhand budget session begins with all-party co-op

RANCHI

An all-party meeting was held in Ranchi ahead of the Jharkhand Assembly's Budget Session, beginning Wednesday. Speaker Rabindranath Mahato urged members across party lines to cooperate, stressing that constructive and factual debates are essential for finding solutions to public issues. He hoped the government would provide comprehensive replies to members' questions and directed all departments to complete preparations in advance to avoid disruptions.

Mahato instructed officials to provide accurate responses, honour previous assurances, and keep the Assembly Secretariat informed. Earlier, he met senior government officials to review arrangements and ensure the presence of senior officers during proceedings, allowing ministers to access prompt and updated information while responding to queries.

Chief Minister Hemant Soren said the government is fully prepared and welcomed the suggestions given during the meeting, promising a smooth session with collective discussions on state issues. Finance and Parliamentary Affairs Minister Radha Krishna Kishore emphasised better interdepartmental coordination and called for organised presentation of proposals and plans.

Leader of the Opposition Babulal Marandi, Congress Legislature Party leader Pradeep Yadav, RJD leader Suresh Paswan, and AJSU MLA Nirmal Mahto were present. Key topics discussed included security arrangements, administrative coordination, document preparation, and departmental accountability to ensure orderly conduct of the Budget Session.

Spain probes X, Meta, TikTok over 'abuse'

MADRID

Spain has ordered prosecutors to investigate X, Meta, and TikTok for sharing AI-generated child sexual abuse content, Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez said. He warned that such platforms harm children's mental health, dignity, and rights. The government said it will not let tech companies act with "impunity." The move is part of wider efforts to fight online abuse and protect minors. Sánchez recently suggested banning social media for users under 16. The investigation aims to make digital platforms more accountable.

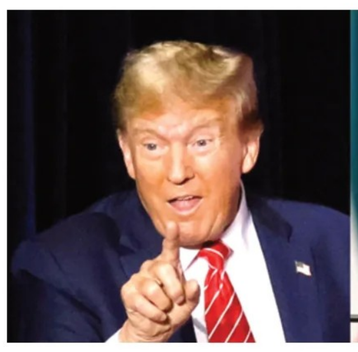
TEHRAN



Iranian Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei issued a strong warning to US President Donald Trump as indirect nuclear talks between the two nations resumed in Geneva.

Khamenei emphasized that even the world's strongest military could face serious setbacks, criticizing Trump's frequent boasts of military power. He highlighted the vulnerability of US warships and warned that Tehran would not allow threats to influence its policies.

The Geneva talks involve senior US representatives, including envoy Steve Witkoff and Jared Kushner, who are meeting Iranian officials to discuss the long-standing nuclear dispute. Khamenei's remarks came alongside the arrival of Iran's Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi and his delegation, underlining the country's firm stance in the negotiations.

President Trump, meanwhile, reiterated that he would engage "indirectly" and warned of consequences if a deal is not reached. He referenced recent US strikes on Iranian nuclear sites in Fordow, Natanz, and Isfahan, claiming the operations prevented Tehran from obtaining nuclear weapons. Trump stated that economic and political pressures have pushed Iran back to the negotiating table, expressing hope for a deal while acknowledging potential regional tensions.

The renewed talks follow the collapse of earlier negotiations held in Muscat and Rome in April 2025. Both sides have emphasized their positions: Tehran insists it will not tolerate threats, while Washington maintains a strong military presence in the Middle East to reinforce its warnings.

Observers say these indirect discussions are crucial for easing tensions in the region, as both nations navigate decades of mistrust.

India-Japan deepen co-op across multiple sectors

India and Japan reaffirm strong ties, expanding collaboration in trade, defence, technology, and regional security to promote peace, stability, and prosperity across the Indo-Pacific region.

TOKYO

India and Japan have reaffirmed their growing partnership, highlighting increased cooperation across political, economic, and strategic sectors. India's Ambassador-designate to Japan, Nagma Mallick, met Japanese Minister of Internal Affairs and Communications Hayashi Yoshimasa, emphasizing steady progress in bilateral ties. Both sides reviewed ongoing collaboration in areas such as trade, technology, infrastructure, and security.

The engagement follows high-level exchanges, including External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar's meetings with leaders from Japan, Germany, and Brazil during the Munich Security Conference 2026. The discussions focused on strengthening multilateral cooperation and advancing shared global goals.

Earlier this month, Prime Minister Narendra Modi congratulated Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi on her electoral win, expressing confidence that the India-Japan Special Strategic and Global Partnership would reach new heights under her leadership. The two leaders had met previously at the G20 Summit in Johannesburg, where they discussed innovation, defence, trade, and talent mobility, reaffirming the importance of their partnership for regional peace and stability.

India and Japan continue to expand cooperation in critical areas, reflecting a shared vision for a free, open, and inclusive Indo-Pacific region. Both nations are committed to promoting economic growth, security, and prosperity through joint initiatives in technology, defence collaboration, infrastructure development, and talent exchange programs. Philippines rebukes China over 'coercive' job warning

MANILA

The Philippines has sharply criticised the Chinese embassy for warning that worsening bilateral ties could cost millions of Filipino jobs, calling the remarks coercive and inappropriate.

The Department of Foreign Affairs said it "strongly objected" to the embassy's statement, arguing that linking economic cooperation to political disagreements undermines constructive diplomacy. It urged Chinese officials to adopt a more responsible tone in public exchanges while reaffirming Manila's commitment to resolving disputes through dialogue.

The diplomatic row was triggered by Beijing's demand for action against Philippine Coast Guard Commodore Jay Tarriela after he displayed a caricature of Chinese President Xi Jinping during an academic forum. The Chinese embassy accused him of spreading "smears", prompting the Philippine Senate to pass a resolution defending the officer and condemning the embassy's intervention as improper. Some lawmakers even called for the expulsion of Chinese diplomats.

Born in the segregated South, Jackson advanced King's legacy, led Operation PUSH, and championed civil rights globally

WASHINGTON

Veteran civil rights leader Reverend Jesse Jackson, a close associate of Martin Luther King Jr and two-time US presidential hopeful, died peacefully on Tuesday at the age of 84, his family announced.

Jackson devoted more than five decades to the struggle for racial equality, social justice and political empowerment of African Americans and other marginalised communities.

Describing him as a "servant leader", his family said his lifelong commitment to justice and human dignity helped inspire a global movement for freedom and equality.

Born in the segregated American South, Jackson rose to prominence during the 1960s civil rights movement as a protégé of King.

He was present in Memphis in 1968 when the civil rights icon was assassinated — an event he later said deeply traumatised him.

After King's death, Jackson carried forward his legacy by leading Operation PUSH in Chicago, which focused on improving economic and social opportunities for Black Americans.

In 1984 and 1988, he sought the Democratic Party's presidential nomination, making history with his "Rainbow Coalition" campaign that brought together minorities, workers, the poor and other underrepresented groups.

Despite being diagnosed with Parkinson's disease in 2017, Jackson remained active in public life, advocating progressive causes and urging equitable access to COVID-19 vaccines for Black communities.

Known for his powerful oratory and message of hope, Jackson's influence extended far beyond the United States, leaving a lasting imprint on the global civil rights movement.

SANTA FE

New Mexico legislators approved a bipartisan truth commission to investigate alleged trafficking and abuse at Jeffrey Epstein's Zorro Ranch and gather survivor testimony.

In a unanimous vote, the New Mexico House of Representatives cleared legislation creating the state's first comprehensive inquiry into the sprawling Zorro Ranch property, about 55 km south of Santa Fe.

The four-member commission will have the authority to issue subpoenas, record testimonies from survivors and local residents, and compile findings for an initial report in July and a final submission by year-end.

The move follows the release of millions of previously undisclosed documents related to Epstein, the disgraced financier who died in a New York jail in 2019 while awaiting trial on federal sex-trafficking charges. Lawmakers said the alleged crimes linked to the ranch were never fully examined despite repeated complaints over the years.

Victim advocates maintain that girls and young women were trafficked to the 7,600-acre estate as early as the mid-1990s. Civil lawsuits have identified the property as a site of abuse, while earlier testimony to federal investigators described Epstein flying in "masseuses" and recruiting local therapists. Epstein, however, was never formally charged over offences tied to the ranch.

State Representative Melanie Stansbury said the commission would help build a complete account of events and identify individuals who may have enabled the crimes. Co-sponsor Andrea Romero added that earlier state-level efforts were halted at the request of federal prosecutors, leaving significant gaps in accountability.

The current owners of the property have pledged full cooperation. Officials say the inquiry aims not only to pursue justice for survivors but also to ensure stronger safeguards against future abuse.

Hamas rejects Netanyahu aide's 60-day ultimatum for group to disarm

GAZA CITY

Hamas dismissed Israel's 60-day disarmament demand, warning renewed war would destabilise region as fragile ceasefire negotiations and reconstruction plans continue.

Hamas has rejected an ultimatum issued by a senior Israeli official calling on the group to disarm within 60 days or face a resumption of military operations in Gaza. Senior Hamas leader Mahmoud Mardawi said the movement had no knowledge of any such proposal and described Israeli statements as "media threats" not linked to ongoing negotiations.

The warning was delivered by Israeli Cabinet Secretary Yossi Fuchs at a conference in Jerusalem, where he said the timeline was tied to a United States-backed initiative and could begin around the February 19 meeting of President Donald Trump's Board of Peace, which is expected to discuss Gaza's reconstruction. Fuchs indicated that if the plan failed, the Israeli military would "complete the mission".

Hamas reiterated that it would not surrender its weapons while Gaza remains under Israeli occupation, cautioning that any return to war would have serious regional consequences. The group has consistently argued that disarming an occupied population would leave Palestinians defenceless.

The development comes during the second phase of a US-mediated ceasefire that began in mid-January and includes proposals for Hamas's disarmament and the possible deployment of an international peacekeeping force. Hamas leaders, including Khaled Meshaal, have previously rejected such demands.

UKRAINE PEACE DEAL

Land dispute dominates Russia-Ukraine peace talks

GENEVA

US-mediated talks between Russia and Ukraine began in Geneva, focusing on territorial control, security guarantees, and international pressure. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Kyiv faces stronger demands than Moscow to make concessions, highlighting the difficulty of achieving a breakthrough.

The talks come amid renewed Russian airstrikes that damaged Odesa's energy infrastructure, leaving tens of thousands without heat and water during winter. Zelenskyy called for tougher sanctions on Russia and increased military aid from allies to secure a "real and just" peace.

Territory remains the biggest obstacle. Russia is pressing Ukraine to hand over the remaining Donetsk areas, which Kyiv has firmly rejected. Moscow currently controls about 20 percent of Ukraine, including Crimea and parts of the Donbas seized before and after the 2022 invasion.

The Russian team is led by Kremlin aide Vladimir Medinsky, while Ukraine is represented by National Security and Defence Council secretary Rustem Umerov.

US envoys Steve Witkoff and Jared Kushner are mediating after previous talks in Abu Dhabi failed. Disagreements also continue over control of the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant and the possible presence of Western troops in postwar Ukraine. With the fourth anniversary of Russia's full-scale invasion on February 24 approaching, expectations for a major agreement are low.

Despite the challenges, Kyiv maintains its aim for a sustainable and lasting peace, stressing the importance of international support and fair negotiations to end Europe's largest conflict since World War II.

Spanish giants seek knockout response after shock group-stage defeat

MADRID

Real Madrid travel to Lisbon aiming to settle scores with Benfica in the Champions League knockout stage, buoyed by the return of Kylian Mbappé.

Three weeks ago, Benfica stunned Madrid 4-2 in the league phase under coach José Mourinho, a result that denied the Spanish side automatic qualification for the round of 16 and sent the Portuguese club through on goal difference. The rematch at the Estádio da Luz opens their two-legged knockout tie.

Madrid coach Álvaro Arbeloa insisted the focus is on progression, not revenge. "Benfica did not surprise me because I know José Mourinho's teams. It's a new match and we are ready," he said, praising his former mentor's leadership.

Mourinho, meanwhile, described Madrid as "a wounded king," warning that his side would need to be near perfect to advance. Benfica famously secured qualification thanks to a dramatic late header from goalkeeper Anatoliy Trubin in their previous meeting.

A major boost for Madrid is Mbappé's availability. The forward, who has scored 38 goals this season, missed the weekend league fixture due to a minor knee issue but has been declared fit. He netted twice in the earlier loss to Benfica and will again spearhead Madrid's attack.

Elsewhere in the knockout round, defending champions Paris Saint-Germain face Monaco, while Inter Milan take on Norwegian debutants Bodø/Glimt.

For Madrid, record 14-time European champions, the mission is clear: overcome Mourinho's Benfica and continue their pursuit of another continental crown.

Yamal misses penalty as Girona stun Barcelona 2-1

Late collapse denies Barca chance to reclaim La Liga summit

GIRONA

Lamine Yamal missed a first-half penalty as Barcelona slumped to a 2-1 defeat at Girona, missing the chance to overtake Real Madrid at the top of La Liga.

The loss — Barcelona's second in less than a week following their Copa del Rey thrashing by Atletico Madrid — leaves Hansi Flick's side second in the standings, two points behind Madrid.

Barcelona had an opportunity to seize control before halftime when Yamal stepped up from the spot, only to see his effort crash against the post. The visitors finally broke the deadlock 14 minutes into the second half as Pau Cubarsí powered home a header from Jules Kounde's cross, bringing up Barcelona's 100th goal in all competitions this season.

But Girona responded swiftly. Just three minutes later, Thomas Lemar equalised from close range after impressive wing play by Vladyslav Vanat. Barcelona goalkeeper Joan Garcia had already been called into action several times and was left exposed again as Girona grew in confidence.

With both sides pushing for a winner, Girona delivered the decisive blow in the 87th minute. Substitute Fran Beltrán drilled a low shot into the corner from just inside the area to spark wild celebrations among the home fans.

Joel Roca was sent off in stoppage time, but Barcelona failed to capitalise on their numerical advantage.

The victory ended Girona's three-game winless run and lifted them to 12th in a tightly packed mid-table, while Barcelona's title push suffered a significant setback in the intensifying Spanish league race.

Neuer's injury hurts Bayern, missing leadership during decisive season stretch

MUNICH

Bayern Munich goalkeeper and captain Manuel Neuer will be out of action for several weeks after sustaining a calf injury, the Bundesliga leaders confirmed.

The 39-year-old suffered a minor muscle tear in his left calf during Bayern's 3-0 victory over Werder Bremen. Neuer picked up the injury in the first half and was substituted at the break, with 22-year-old Jonas Urbig taking his place for the remainder of the match.

In a statement, Bayern said Neuer would be unavailable "for the time being," a timeline that is expected to sideline him for the upcoming "der Klassiker" clash against Borussia Dortmund on February 28. The marquee encounter could prove significant in the title race, with Bayern currently holding a six-point advantage over Dortmund at the top of the table with 12 rounds remaining. Neuer's absence is a setback for the Bavarian giants, given his experience and leadership at a crucial stage of the season. The veteran goalkeeper has been a mainstay for both club and country for over a decade and continues to play a pivotal role despite nearing 40.

The injury opens the door for Urbig to gain valuable first-team minutes in the coming weeks. The young shot-stopper is now expected to deputise as Bayern navigate domestic and European commitments.

While the club has not specified an exact return date, the phrase "several weeks" suggests Neuer will miss multiple fixtures, leaving Bayern to rely on their squad depth as they push to maintain their Bundesliga lead and pursue further silverware this season.

Morikawa triumphs at Pebble Beach; Bhatia ties for sixth

PEBBLE BEACH

Morikawa shot a five-under 67 in blustery conditions at Pebble Beach Golf Links to finish at 22-under 266, securing a one-shot victory over Sepp Straka and Min Woo Lee. The two-time major champion had gone 45 starts without a win since October 2023 but delivered under pressure in a dramatic final round that saw six players share the lead at various stages. The decisive moment came at the par-5 18th, where Morikawa struck a superb 4-iron from 235 yards, starting the ball over the ocean wall and riding the wind back toward the green. A calm two-putt sealed the title after a tense wait caused by a ruling involving Jacob Bridgeman on the closing hole.

Bhatia, who began the day with a two-shot cushion, carded a closing 72 to finish three shots behind the winner. The 54-hole leader struggled to build momentum, managing only two birdies over his final 29 holes as swirling winds reshaped the leaderboard. Fellow Indian-American Sahith Theegala finished tied 60th after a 71.

World No. 1 Scottie Scheffler mounted a stunning charge with a 63 that featured three eagles, briefly tying for the lead before settling for a tie for fourth alongside Tommy Fleetwood.

Ezzejjari's brace powers East Bengal past NorthEast United

KOLKATA

Youssef Ezzejjari struck twice in six minutes before Miguel Ferreira added a stoppage-time goal as East Bengal FC cruised to a 3-0 victory over NorthEast United FC in the Indian Super League at the Vivekananda Yuba Bharati Krirangan.

Despite dominating possession in the first half, the Red & Gold Brigade struggled to carve out clear chances against a disciplined NorthEast defence guarded by Gurmeet in goal. The Highlanders, meanwhile, sought to exploit space behind the hosts' high defensive line, with Jithin and Parthib attempting to use their pace on the counter, though the final delivery often went astray.

East Bengal finished the opening half strongly but were unable to break the deadlock before the interval.

Six-minute second-half burst seals commanding home victory for hosts

NorthEast began the second period brightly, again threatening through Jithin's runs, yet without tangible reward. At the other end, Miguel Ferreira tested Gurmeet after connecting with a well-timed cross from Bipin Singh.

The breakthrough arrived in the 65th minute. Jeakson Singh initiated the move, releasing Bipin on the flank, and the winger delivered a precise cross into the box. Ezzejjari timed his run perfectly, losing his marker to head home his maiden league goal. The Spaniard doubled the advantage within five minutes, capitalising after Edmund Lalrindika's lobbed pass deflected kindly into his path, leaving him with a simple finish.

NorthEast nearly pulled one back in the 84th minute when Thoi Singh's cross rattled the crossbar after goalkeeper Prabhsukhan Gill misjudged his leap.

Ferreira then capped the performance in injury time, latching onto Jay Gupta's through ball and firing a clinical left-footed strike into the bottom corner to seal an emphatic win for the hosts.

Smriti Mandhana named BBC Indian Sportswoman of the Year 2025

NEW DELHI

Smriti Mandhana was on Tuesday named the BBC Indian Sportswoman of the Year for 2025, capping a stellar season in which she played a central role in India's Women's World Cup triumph.

Mandhana edged out a strong field that included India captain Harmanpreet Kaur, chess prodigy Divya Deshmukh, hurdler Jyothi Yarraji and shooter Suruchi Singh to claim the prestigious honour.

The elegant left-handed batter was instrumental in India's victorious Women's World Cup 2025 campaign, delivering crucial performances at the top of the order. She also enjoyed success in franchise cricket, lifting the Women's Premier League trophy for the second time, underlining her consistency across formats. Currently touring Australia for a bilateral series, Mandhana was unable to attend the ceremony. Her mother, Smita Mandhana, accepted the award on her behalf.

In a message shared during the ceremony, Mandhana said, "Thank you, BBC, for giving me the award for Best Sportswoman of the Year. 2025 was a special year for women's cricket, especially towards the end when we had the World Cup. I'm happy I could contribute and help India win matches."

The winner was selected by a distinguished jury comprising tennis legend Leander Paes, Paralympic medallist Deepa Malik and long jump icon Anju Bobby George.

Mandhana's latest accolade further cements her status as one of the leading figures in Indian women's sport, inspiring a new generation of cricketers with her achievements on the global stage.

Atiqa Mir scales WSK heights as lone female on grid

NEW DELHI

Atiqa Mir continues to turn heads on the international karting circuit, showcasing rare composure and speed after stepping up to the demanding OKNJ Junior category in the 2026 season.

The 11-year-old prodigy, the only female on a fiercely competitive WSK Super Master Series grid, made a voluntary leap from the Mini class to Junior — a significant jump in both machinery and competition. Undeterred by sub-zero European conditions and unfamiliar tracks, Atiqa announced her arrival with a stunning P2 finish in qualifying at the season opener.

She followed it up with another standout performance at the iconic Circuito Internazionale Napoli, clocking the sixth-fastest time in tricky wet conditions. During the race, she carved her way through a 45-plus kart field, gaining as many as 16 positions in a remarkable charge. The shift from Mini (ages 8–12) to Junior (12–14) represents a massive technical challenge.

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO

Elana Meyers Taylor finally captured the one prize that had eluded her glittering career, winning the women's monobob title at the 2026 Winter Olympics to become the oldest American woman to claim gold at a Winter Games.

The 41-year-old clocked a combined time of 3 minutes, 57.93 seconds over four heats, sealing victory with a stirring final run. When the result became official, Meyers Taylor dropped to her knees in tears before wrapping herself in the American flag.

Germany's Laura Nolte, who led by 0.15 seconds entering the last heat, settled for silver after failing to hold her advantage. Fellow American Kaillie Humphries claimed bronze in 3:58.05, securing her fifth Olympic medal.

Meyers Taylor had already amassed five Olympic medals — three silver and two bronze — across previous Games, along with multiple World Cup and world championship titles. She was also the most decorated Black athlete in Winter Olympic history even before this breakthrough. Now, with six career medals, she equals Bonnie Blair for the most Winter Olympic medals by a U.S. woman.

Sliding in reverse order among the top three, Humphries posted her time first to lock in at least bronze. Meyers Taylor followed with a near-flawless descent that guaranteed no worse than silver and ultimately proved unbeatable when Nolte's final run fell short.

Brentford survive scare against Macclesfield in FA Cup

LONDON

Brentford narrowly avoided a major upset in the FA Cup, edging sixth-tier Macclesfield 1-0 thanks to a late own goal.

The Premier League side, currently seventh in the top flight, were heavy favourites against opponents sitting 116 places below them in the English football pyramid. However, they were made to work hard at Moss Rose, where Macclesfield once again demonstrated the resilience that had seen them knock out holders Crystal Palace in the previous round.

Brentford manager rotated his squad heavily, making seven changes, but still fielded a side expected to progress comfortably. Instead, the hosts matched them for intensity and organisation, frustrating the visitors for much of the contest. The decisive moment arrived 20 minutes from time. Aaron Hickey delivered a teasing cross into the box, and under pressure, Macclesfield defender and PE teacher Sam Heathcote inadvertently headed the ball into his own net, breaking the deadlock in cruel fashion.

Macclesfield, managed by John Rooney — brother of former England captain Wayne Rooney — refused to fold. They pushed forward in the closing stages in search of an equaliser that would have forced extra time, but Brentford's defence held firm to preserve their slender advantage. Despite the narrow margin, Brentford's progression ensures their place in the last 16, where they will face West Ham United.

For Macclesfield, the defeat marked the end of a spirited cup run that captured the imagination, while Brentford will be relieved to have sidestepped one of the competition's potential giant-killing stories.

Adani unveils $100B plan for green-powered AI infra

NEW DELHI

Gautam Adani announces massive green data centre investment to boost India's AI leadership ambitions.

Billionaire industrialist Gautam Adani has revealed a bold plan to invest $100 billion by 2035 to build green, AI-ready data centres across India. The project, led by the Adani Group, aims to create what it calls India's sovereign AI backbone and strengthen the country's role in the fast-growing global artificial intelligence sector.

The group said the direct investment could attract another $150 billion in related sectors over the next decade, including server manufacturing and digital infrastructure. Together, this could help build a $250 billion AI ecosystem in India.

In a regulatory filing, flagship company Adani Enterprises Ltd. said its shares rose up to 2.4 per cent in early trade on Tuesday after the announcement, reflecting positive investor response.

Adani said the world is going through an Intelligence Revolution that is more powerful than past industrial changes.

He added that countries able to combine energy strength with computing power will shape the future, and India is in a strong position to lead.

The roadmap expands on AdaniConnex's existing 2 GW data centre network, which will be scaled up to 5 GW.

The group plans to work with Google to build a large AI data centre campus in Visakhapatnam. It has also partnered with Microsoft to set up campuses in Noida, Hyderabad and Pune.

Experts say the move could boost India's digital strength and speed up AI innovation.

A $250-billion AI infra vision

The initiative aims to create a long-term sovereign energy and compute platform to position India as a global leader in 'Intelligence Revolution'. The Group estimates the investment will catalyse an additional $150 billion to create a projected $250 billion AI ecosystem over the next decade.

Building world's largest integrated data centre platform

The road map expands on AdaniConnex's existing 2 GW national data centre footprint, targeting 5 GW of capacity. The platform will integrate renewable power generation, transmission networks and hyperscale AI compute in a unified architecture

'Global South must build its own multilingual AI models'

NEW DELHI

Former Amitabh Kant on Tuesday urged India and other Global South nations to develop their own artificial intelligence (AI) models using local data to ensure inclusive growth and equitable benefits.

Speaking at the India AI Impact Summit 2026 during the session "AI for India's Next Billion," Kant emphasised that AI systems must be multilingual, accessible, affordable, and accountable. He warned that rapid AI advancements and massive global investments could widen socio-economic gaps if not responsibly implemented.

Kant stressed that AI should reach those below the poverty line and improve education, healthcare, and nutrition. He noted that systems not designed for underprivileged populations risk deepening existing inequalities. Highlighting linguistic diversity, he said AI tools that are not multilingual could exclude large sections of society.

He pointed out that India and other Global South countries contribute significantly to the data powering large language models, with India providing 33 per cent more data than the United States. Kant cautioned that global tech firms could monetise this data for expensive products, sidelining the very nations that supplied it.

Drawing lessons from India's digital public infrastructure success, he suggested a layered AI model: a strong digital identity framework at the base, with private players building competitive solutions on top

India to add 20,000 GPUs in a week: Union Min

NEW DELHI

Government plans major expansion of AI computing power and outlines next phase of strategy.

Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Tuesday said India will add 20,000 more GPUs within a week, raising total capacity beyond 38,000 already available under the IndiaAI Mission. The move aims to strengthen the country's artificial intelligence computing infrastructure.

A GPU is a powerful chip that helps run AI programs and process complex tasks faster. Vaishnaw said over 38,000 high-end GPUs are currently available at about Rs 65 per hour, nearly one-third of global average costs.

He added that the next phase of India's AI journey will focus on design and research, building solutions suited to Indian needs. AI-related investments at the India AI Impact Summit are expected to cross USD 200 billion, including USD 90 billion already committed.

The minister said India is in talks with major firms for more AI investments. He also highlighted AI awareness programs in schools across rural and urban areas, using regional languages and cultural context.

On regulation, he noted that India is working with around 30 countries on AI policy and supports a techno-legal approach. Global platforms such as Netflix and Meta must follow India's constitutional framework, he said.

Vaishnaw called for stronger rules against deepfakes, especially to protect children, and stressed fair copyright payments for content creators. He said India continues to share its digital public infrastructure globally without seeking royalties.

India-Ireland forge digital future

NEW DELHI

Jyotiraditya Scindia on Tuesday held a high-level meeting with Jack Chambers to strengthen digital ties between India and Ireland.

The talks focused on expanding cooperation between the two countries, both seen as innovation-driven democracies. The meeting highlighted India's fast digital growth and explored new ways to work together in the digital economy.

Scindia briefed the Irish delegation on India's Digital Public Infrastructure, including the Unified Payments Interface and the Direct Benefit Transfer system. He said these platforms have changed how services and payments are delivered across the country. Ministers discuss digital public systems, 5G growth, AI cooperation and global telecom leadership, aiming to build a strong, future-ready partnership between two innovation-driven democracies.

The ministers discussed cooperation in emerging technologies such as quantum communications, artificial intelligence and regulatory innovation. Both sides expressed interest in working together in advanced digital fields.

The meeting also covered global cooperation under the International Telecommunication Union.

India is seeking support for its bid to host the ITU Plenipotentiary Conference in 2030. By requesting Ireland's backing, India hopes to strengthen its role in global telecom policy and promote inclusive digital growth.

Scindia later said both nations can build a strong and forward-looking digital partnership based on shared values and technological progress.

JSW MG Motor to launch 6 new NEVs in India

MUMBAI

JSW MG Motor India is set to expand aggressively in India's New Energy Vehicle (NEV) segment, planning six new model launches soon.

The company, already strong in the electric vehicle market with the MG Windsor EV, MG Comet EV, and MG ZS EV, aims to further strengthen its NEV portfolio. NEVs include Battery Electric Vehicles (BEVs), Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicles (PHEVs), and Strong Hybrid Vehicles.

Anurag Mehrotra, Managing Director of JSW MG Motor India, confirmed most upcoming models will be NEVs. Among them is the Majestor SUV, recently showcased in Faridabad, and MG's first plug-in hybrid SUV for India, codenamed

'520'. This new model will sit on a multi-energy platform and compete with models like the Mahindra XEV 9S and XUV7XO.

The PHEV may be based on the Wuling Starlight 560 SUV, sold internationally as Xingguang in China and Wuling Eksion in Indonesia. Globally, the SUV comes in 5- and 7-seater layouts, combining SUV styling with MPV practicality. The plug-in hybrid variant features a 20.5 kWh battery paired with a 1.5-litre petrol engine, providing around 100 km of electric-only range. The pure electric variant uses a 56.7 kWh battery, offering up to 500 km on a single charge.

MG Motor plans to price the upcoming EVs and PHEVs competitively. The plug-in hybrid SUV is expected to face limited competition initially and could serve as a practical bridge for buyers transitioning from conventional internal combustion vehicles to fully electric cars in India.

'Agri residues can yield 18000 MW power in India'

NEW DELHI

India aims to generate over 18,000 MW of power annually from its 350 million tonnes of agricultural residues, turning waste into a valuable resource, according to an official statement on Tuesday.

The government is promoting circular agriculture, where crop residues are used not only for energy but also to produce nutrient-rich organic fertilisers, reducing dependence on chemicals and improving soil health. Under the Crop Residue Management Initiatives, Rs 3,926 crore has been provided between 2018–19 and 2025–26. Over 42,000 Custom Hiring Centres and 3.24 lakh machines have been deployed to support sustainable residue management.

Flagship schemes like GOBARdhan have helped establish 979 biogas plants across 51.4% of districts as of January 14, 2026. These plants convert dung, crop residues, and food waste into clean energy and organic manure.

Globally, 1.3 billion tonnes of food are wasted yearly, and nearly one-third of municipal solid waste is biodegradable. Poor waste management releases methane, pollutes air and water, and accelerates climate change, making sustainable solutions both environmentally and economically critical.

The statement emphasised adopting a "waste-to-wealth" approach, recovering, reusing, and reintegrating value from residues. Scaling proven interventions, strengthening local institutions, and aligning economic incentives with ecological outcomes can make circular agriculture a key driver of food security, climate resilience, and inclusive rural development. By converting agricultural waste into energy and fertiliser, India seeks to enhance sustainability while boosting rural prosperity.

India's exports surge, eyes $860 billion milestone

NEW DELHI

India's export sector showed strong growth in January, with combined merchandise and services shipments rising 13.16 per cent year-on-year to $80.45 billion, up from $71.09 billion in January 2025, according to Ministry of Commerce and Industry data.

Merchandise exports alone increased 0.6 per cent to $36.56 billion despite global economic challenges. From April to January, cumulative exports of goods and services rose 6.15 per cent to $720.76 billion. Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal expressed confidence that India could reach $860 billion in total exports by the end of the financial year.

Imports in January jumped 19 per cent to $71.24 billion, driven mainly by higher gold and silver purchases. This widened the merchandise trade deficit to $34.68 billion, up from $23.43 billion a year earlier and $25 billion in December.

The January data also reflects easing US tariffs, which were reduced from 30 per cent to 18 per cent under the recent India–US Bilateral Trade Agreement. The pact provides tariff rationalisation, zero-duty access for key products, and safeguards for farmers, MSMEs, and domestic industries.

India's exports to the US totalled $86.35 billion in 2024, and the agreement is expected to boost competitiveness in textiles, leather, gems and jewellery, agriculture, machinery, pharmaceuticals, and technology sectors. Tariffs on $30.94 billion worth of goods were cut from 50 per cent to 18 per cent, while duties on $10.03 billion of exports were removed entirely.

Analysts say these changes will improve price advantages and market access for Indian products, strengthening the country's position in global trade.

India's wholesale inflation climbs to 1.81%

NEW DELHI

India's wholesale inflation stood at 1.81 per cent in January compared to the same month last year, according to data released by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry on Monday.

The rise in wholesale prices was mainly driven by higher costs of basic metals, food products, textiles and other manufactured goods. On a monthly basis, the Wholesale Price Index increased by 0.51 per cent in January 2026 over December 2025.

The Food Index, which includes food articles and food products, eased slightly from 196.0 in December to 194.2

in January. However, on a yearly basis, food inflation under wholesale prices rose to 1.41 per cent.

Manufacturing, which makes up over 64 per cent of the WPI basket, recorded a 1.3 per cent increase during the month. Out of 22 manufacturing groups, 19 saw price gains, led by basic metals, food products, textiles and electrical equipment. Prices fell in pharmaceuticals, machinery and furniture compared to December.

Retail inflation, based on the Consumer Price Index with the revised 2024 base year, was earlier reported at 2.75 per cent in January by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation. Food inflation under CPI stood at 2.13 per cent.

Among vegetables, prices of potatoes, onions and garlic declined, while tomato prices increased. Pulses such as arhar and tur also saw lower rates.

Housing inflation was recorded at 2.05 per cent.

Precious metal jewellery prices showed a sharp jump. Silver jewellery inflation surged to 159.67 per cent, while gold jewellery prices rose 46.77 per cent year-on-year.

Pakistan eye Super 8s spot in must-win clash against Namibia

NRR battle intensifies as Pakistan seek decisive victory in Colombo

COLOMBO

Former champions Pakistan face a do-or-die encounter against Namibia in their final Group A fixture of the ICC Men's T20 World Cup on Wednesday, with qualification for the Super 8s hanging in the balance.

While India have already sealed their berth following a commanding 61-run win over Pakistan earlier this week, the second qualification spot remains up for grabs. Both Pakistan and the United States are locked on four points, but the USA hold a significant advantage in net run rate (0.788) compared to Pakistan's negative -0.403. The equation is simple for Pakistan: win, and they stay alive. Any slip-up would leave them relying on other results and complex permutations.

Led by Salman Ali Agha, Pakistan's campaign has been jolted by their defeat to India, which exposed familiar frailties in their batting. The spotlight will once again be on Babar Azam and the top order after their collapse in the previous match. Reduced to 13 for three by India's pace attack, Pakistan never recovered, raising concerns about their approach in high-pressure games.

Shaheen Shah Afridi, too, will be eager to rediscover rhythm after an expensive spell against India. Early breakthroughs against Namibia could prove decisive in easing nerves within the Pakistani camp.

Despite being winless, Namibia have shown discipline and tactical sharpness. Captain Gerhard Erasmus impressed with a four-wicket haul against India and will relish testing Pakistan's vulnerable middle order. With JJ Smit's pace and Louren Steenkamp's steady starts at the top, Namibia have the tools to challenge. For Pakistan, the path is clear — deliver a clinical performance or risk an early exit.

Shoaib Akhtar calls Naqvi 'good man' after PCB outburst

COLOMBO

Former pacer clarifies remarks amid backlash after India defeat controversy

Former Pakistan speedster Shoaib Akhtar has softened his stance against Mohsin Naqvi, a day after lashing out at the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) chief following Pakistan's 61-run defeat to India in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup. Akhtar had earlier described Naqvi as "incompetent and illiterate" after Sunday's loss in Colombo, remarks that quickly went viral and sparked widespread debate. However, the former pacer clarified that his comments were not personally directed at Naqvi.

"The words 'incompetent and jaahil' were not meant for Mohsin Naqvi bhai. My hint was towards the top brass running international cricket. The television channel twisted it," Akhtar said, adding that Naqvi is a "good guy" who wants to improve Pakistan cricket but may not always receive the right advice.

Akhtar maintained that his frustration stemmed from the reversal of a proposed boycott of the India match. "I am angry with him as he took a stand but did not stick with it. The entire community was with him," he explained.

The controversy erupted after Pakistan's heavy defeat extended India's dominance over their arch-rivals in T20 World Cup meetings. Akhtar had also criticised Babar Azam's batting position, questioned Shaheen Afridi's fitness, and raised concerns over Shadab Khan's selection and Pakistan's cricketing structure.

His apparent U-turn comes as Pakistan prepare for a must-win clash against Namibia to keep their Super 8 hopes alive. With scrutiny mounting over the team's performance and administration, Akhtar's remarks have added another layer of drama to an already turbulent campaign.

Former India batter calls rivalry exaggerated after Colombo mismatch

Manjrekar says India-Pakistan hype must end after one-sided clash

MUMBAI

Former India cricketer and commentator Sanjay Manjrekar has urged fans and broadcasters to tone down the hype surrounding India-Pakistan encounters, calling the rivalry "a mismatch" in the current cricketing landscape.

Reacting to India's dominant 61-run win over Pakistan in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup in Colombo, Manjrekar posted a video on Instagram captioned, "India-Pakistan hype needs to stop. India has moved on. Maybe the fans should, too."

In the video, Manjrekar said he finds it difficult to digest the excessive promotion of the fixture as the biggest draw in world cricket. "The hype of an India-Pakistan match, the way it is projected as this massive revenue generator for world cricket, is hard for me to accept," he remarked.

He argued that, purely from a cricketing perspective, the contest no longer carries the same competitive edge. "At this point, it is a mismatch. India has clearly moved ahead," he said, suggesting that fans should shift focus to more evenly matched rivalries.

India's comprehensive victory under Suryakumar Yadav reinforced that view. After posting 175/7, powered by Ishan Kishan's 77 and late contributions from the middle order, India bundled out Pakistan for 114 in 18 overs. The win marked India's third straight victory in Group A and secured their Super 8 berth.

The result also extended India's head-to-head dominance over Pakistan in T20 World Cup history to 8-1.

While the fixture continues to command massive global attention, Manjrekar's remarks have sparked fresh debate over whether the storied rivalry still lives up to its billing on the field.

HARDIK SINGH TO LEAD INDIA IN FIH PRO LEAGUE HOBART LEG

NEW DELHI

Midfielder Hardik Singh has been appointed captain of the Indian men's hockey team for the upcoming Hobart leg of the FIH Pro League, with regular skipper Harmanpreet Singh opting out due to personal reasons.

The matches, scheduled from February 20 to 25, will see India take on Spain and hosts Australia at the Tasmania Hockey Centre in Hobart.

India head into the Hobart leg looking to bounce back from a disappointing outing in Rourkela, where they suffered four consecutive defeats, including a heavy 0-8 loss to Argentina. Head coach Craig Fulton said the team had drawn valuable lessons from that phase and was focused on delivering improved performances.

Hardik, a two-time Olympic bronze medallist, will lead a squad blending experience and youth. Youngsters Amandeep Lakra and Manmeet Singh, who made their senior international debuts during the Rourkela leg, retain their places in the side.

A source close to Harmanpreet indicated the seasoned drag-flicker is expecting his second child with wife Amandeep Kaur and will miss the tour for family reasons.

Suraj Karkera and Mohith Honnenahalli Shashikumar will share goalkeeping duties, while the defence features experienced names such as Amit Rohidas, Jarmanpreet Singh and Jugraj Singh alongside emerging talents.

The midfield will revolve around Hardik, Vivek Sagar Prasad and Raj Kumar Pal, while the forward line includes Mandeep Singh, Abhishek and the returning Maninder Singh.

Fulton said the Hobart leg will also help fine-tune combinations ahead of the World Cup and Asian Games, as India aim to regain momentum on the international stage.

BENGALURU

Students across Podar International Schools in the city received a special sporting treat as world-renowned freestyle footballer Jamie Knight returned to conduct exclusive workshops aimed at promoting creativity, focus and passion for sport.

Ranked among the world's top ten freestyle footballers and a multiple Guinness World Record holder, Knight is on his seventh visit to India. Globally celebrated for his extraordinary ball control and innovative tricks, Knight has collaborated with major international brands and performed on some of football's grandest stages. He featured as the official global mascot at UEFA Euro 2020 and showcased his skills during the UEFA Champions League Final in 2017 and 2018, earning admiration from legends of the game.

During the Bengaluru workshops, students were left spellbound by his gravity-defying tricks, seamless transitions and impeccable precision. Beyond the spectacle, Knight emphasised discipline, consistency and creative expression — qualities he believes freestyle football uniquely nurtures.

"It's always a joy to be back in India and to see how the students' confidence, skill and creativity have grown over the years. The enthusiasm at Podar International Schools is unmatched, and I'm constantly inspired by their energy and talent," Knight said.

Brook relieved as England reach Super 8 despite inconsistency

KOLKATA

Harry Brook admitted England have not produced their best cricket so far in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup but expressed satisfaction after sealing a Super 8 berth with a 24-run win over Italy at Eden Gardens.

England posted 203 after opting to bat and then defended the total comfortably, ensuring qualification for the next stage. Brook, however, acknowledged that the batting unit is yet to click collectively in the tournament.

"We haven't played our best cricket, but at the end of the day, we've made it through, and we're heading to Sri Lanka, so we can be happy about that," Brook said after the match. "It's been a trend so far. We haven't managed to string together the scores we'd like as a batting unit. But that's T20 cricket — it's a fickle game. One day you can smack a hundred, the next day you can get out first ball. We've just got to keep being brave."

The standout performer was Will Jacks, whose unbeaten 53 off 22 balls powered England past the 200-run mark. Jacks also chipped in with a wicket to claim the Player of the Match award.

Reflecting on his knock, Jacks said England had discussed maintaining intent on a high-scoring surface. "We understood it was a very good wicket. Batting first, you never know what's enough here, so that was the intent throughout," he noted, adding that he is settling into his role down the order.

England have now completed their group-stage fixtures, while Italy will face the West Indies in their final match on Thursday.

Though performances have fluctuated, England's progress keeps their title defence ambitions alive heading into the Super 8 stage.

Vinesh's comeback bid awaits TOPS clearance amid eligibility concerns

CHENNAI

Vinesh Phogat has set her sights on a competitive return, but her path back to elite wrestling remains uncertain as she is yet to receive clearance under the Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS).

The multiple World Championships medallist, who announced her comeback in December after a brief retirement, has been training intensively following the birth of her child last year. Sources indicate she was targeting this year's Asian Games, but with just over six months remaining, time may not be on her side.

Her inclusion under TOPS was reportedly discussed during the latest Mission Olympic Cell meeting. However, members are understood to have debated her eligibility, citing the absence of a clear qualification pathway for the Asian Games. Additionally, the Wrestling Federation of India has laid down selection criteria, including mandatory participation at the national championships — a requirement she has not yet fulfilled.

Despite limited institutional backing, Vinesh continues to prepare quietly, with support from Olympic Gold Quest. Her former foreign coach Woller Akos had earlier expressed willingness to assist if approached. Currently a legislator in Haryana, she has been training in Bengaluru as part of her comeback roadmap.

Vinesh's last competitive memory remains the dramatic 2024 Paris Olympics, where she stunned reigning world champion Yui Susaki before being heartbreakingly disqualified for being 50 grams overweight on the day of her final bout.

A long-time TOPS beneficiary before Paris, her return to the scheme now hinges on meeting selection benchmarks. Whether she makes it back through a domestic tournament or another route, a successful return would mark one of Indian sport's most compelling comeback stories.
